SICSA Camps Foster Furry Fun

Kettering, Ohio, February 26, 2018 – SICSA is hosting 5 weeks of humane summer camps for ages 6-17. Campers will learn about animals, veterinary science, and animal related careers through fun animal interactions, guest speakers, games, volunteering, and art projects that encourage respect, empathy, and kindness.

"Our week-long camps are a wonderful opportunity for young people to learn about and help animals," says Carlette Jewell, SICSA's Humane Education Manager. "Every day is something fun and different, with visitors from other animal welfare organizations, as well as SICSA's adoptable pets. This year we're expanding our opportunities to include teen Paw It Forward week – 5 days of workshops, and hands on skill-building in animal handling, positive training, and daily animal care where campers can earn up to 30 volunteer hours to fulfill their service project requirements!"

Space is limited, and early registration is encouraged. For more information, and to register, please visit www.sicsa.org/animal-adventure-camp.

About SICSA

Originated in 1974, SICSA was started as an alternative to the traditional animal welfare system with a mission of improving the lives of stray animals and promoting adoption. The organization runs an Animal Adoption Center in Kettering at 2600 Wilmington Pike, which is open seven days a week to the public for those interested in bringing a companion animal into their home. For more information about SICSA, please log onto their website at www.SICSA.org or call the Adoption Center at (937) 294-6505.

"SICSA camps help us kids learn how to be animal advocates; and that animals are just as important as humans. But the best part of camp for me is that we actually get to play with the SICSA pets!" ~Reese, age 10
Multi-year SICSA Summer Camper

"The knowledge that is gained at a SICSA camp is exceptional. Reese has attended camp since age 8 and every year there are new things to learn, new fun activities and new camp friends." ~Pam Walters, mother
